- That all peoples may have access to water and other resources needed for daily life.
- That families commit themselves to fervent prayer so as to grow in love and holiness.

SAINT FOR FEBRUARY

ST. SCHOLASTICA

Virgin
(480-542?)

February 10th

*I asked a favor of you and you refused.
I asked it of God and he granted it.* (St. Scholastica)

The above words of St. Scholastica were spoken when her brother, St. Benedict, refused to stay the night so they could have a longer visit. He refused to do so because he would be breaking his own rule that monks not spend the night outside the monastery. Scholastica wanted her twin brother with her because she sensed her death was close at hand. The disagreement was settled when a severe thunderstorm broke out, preventing St. Benedict and his monks from returning to the abbey. Three days later, while at prayer, Benedict sensed that his sister had died. He buried her in the tomb he had prepared for himself.

A short time after St. Benedict founded his monastery at Monte Casino, Scholastica established a community of women a few miles distant, most likely under the guidance of St. Benedict. The early monasteries for women were places for virgins and widows to gather in community to dedicate themselves to an intense spiritual life. Before the late fourth century they lived at home in semi-seclusion. Around the early part of the fifth century they banded together in small communities, as did the monks.

St. Scholastica provided an opportunity for prayer in a setting free from the distractions of the world. The purpose then and still today is the same for religious men and women. The Decree on the Pastoral Office of Bishops of the Vatican II Council stated that it is the duty of religious to promote the general welfare and growth of the Church “by means of prayer, works of penance and by the example of their own lives.” (Christus Dominus, n. 33)

THOUGHTS FROM THE CATECHISM OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

Corporal and Spiritual Works of Mercy

#2447 The works of mercy are charitable actions by which we come to the aid of our neighbor in his spiritual and bodily necessities. Instruction, advising, consoling, comforting are spiritual works of mercy, as are forgiving and bearing wrongs patiently. The corporal works of mercy consist especially in feeding the hungry, sheltering the homeless, clothing the naked, visiting the sick and imprisoned, and burying the dead. Among all these, giving alms to the poor is one of the chief witnesses to fraternal charity; it is also a work of justice pleasing to the Lord.
